Liquor-Lobby Probe Has 'No Evidence'

'Only Rumors And Hearsay' Submitted, Committee Says; Request Discharge

BY ARCH DONOVAN

(Star Staff Writer)

The legislative liquor-lobby investigating committee completed its work Monday and drafted a report to be submitted to the legislature with a request that they be discharged.

"After full consideration and study of all the testimony which was presented to this committee, it was the consensus of opinion that this testimony reveals the same to be rumors and hearsay, and not based on any facts which could be proven and that would warrant any further action by this committee," the report says. "Much of the testimony that was given consisted of facts and information that is now and always has been of public record in the office of the liquor commission," the report continued.

Heard Many Witnesses

The committee was set up by Sen. Ray E. Bockel of Sidney on Feb. 19 following a motion by Sen. Hugh Carson, who told the legislature that he had evidence of illegal operations.

The committee at hearings heard lobbyists, members of the liquor commission, Omaha World-Herald reporters, former tavern operators, liquor agents, wholesalers, a minister and Frank Morrison of McCook, who gave a statement he attributed to "Mr. X" but did not name.

The report as completed did not go into details, the complete transcript of hearings being filed with the clerk of the legislature.

'Read In Newspapers'

"Our hearings brought out no new evidence or charges that this legislature was not reading every day in the newspapers," the report continued. First hearings were closed sessions but when newspapers told of evidence offered, the committee opened them to the public.

"The public had full knowledge of the activities of this committee and the dates of our hearings," the report continued. "No one appeared with any criticism or charges against the activities of any of the registered lobbyists."

The committee suggested that a legislative council committee study state lobbying laws before the next session. Members of the committee besides Chairman Babcock are Senators Vogel, Omaha; Hern, Chadron; Wellensiek, Grand Island; Marvel, Hastings; Person, Wahoo, and Lusinski, Columbus.

Workers On Farms Are 'Essential'

... Brannan Announces

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Agriculture Secretary Brannan announced Monday that farm operators and their families and hired helpers are now considered to have essential occupations.

Key farm workers will be listed as essential civilian workers for draft board guidance in selecting manpower for the armed services.

Brannan said many of these workers are needed to produce agricultural supplies for defense.

Selective service boards will receive the listings to help them in classifying civilians.

City Election Information

Lincoln polling places will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday for voting on the following ballots:

Candidates for mayor, one to be elected for two year term, vote for one:

Walter A. Vallis
Victor E. Anderson

Candidates for city council, three to be elected for four year terms, vote for three:

Chauncey W. D. Kinsey
Ralph B. Smith
Bill DeVriendt

Rees Wilkinson
John Slothower, jr.
Pat Ash

Candidates for cemetery trustee, one to be elected for six year term, vote for one:

Allen W. Field
Candidates for election to school board, two to be elected for six year terms, vote for two:

Mrs. Roscoe S. Hill
Robert C. Venner
Mrs. Irma N. Laase

Homer L. Wright
Proposal to issue school bonds in the principal amount of $6,000,000.

Vote yes or no.

17,000 Are Expected To Cast Ballots

Lincoln's Polling Places Unchanged

Barring bad weather, an estimated 17,000 Lincoln voters are expected to go to the polls between the hours of 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. Tuesday to mark three different ballots.

On one ballot will be the names of two candidates for mayor with one to be elected and the names of six city council candidates with three to be elected. The second ballot will contain the names of four school board candidates with two to be elected. On a third ballot will be the $6,000,000 school bond proposition.

No changes have been made in polling places since the primary election in April.

While voting on the city officials requires registration and residence standards be met, the qualifications for electors to vote on the school board members and the bond issue are as follows:

Every citizen of the United States (No. 1) who has resided in the school district 40 days, (No. 2) who is 21 years or more old, and (No. 3) who owns real or personal property that was assessed in the district in his name at the last annual assessment, or whose spouse owns real or personal property that was assessed in the name of said spouse in the district at the last annual assessment, or who has children of school age residing in the district, shall be entitled to vote at any district meeting or school election.

Budgeteers Request Annual Money Bills

Budget Message Says Record Sum Reflects General Economic Conditions

BY JIM LARSON

(Star Staff Writer)

The legislative budget committee will recommend appropriating funds for state agencies on an annual instead of biennial basis, it was learned Monday.

The recommendation will come in the annual budget message, to be submitted to the senate in the next few days along with the committee's regular budget bill. Money bill debate will probably begin later this week.

Sen. Arthur Carmody, chairman of the budget committee, pointed out that both the 1947 and 1949 legislatures had similar recommendations made to them from the same source.

The difficulty of making accurate appropriations on a two year basis—especially during times of rapidly fluctuating economic conditions as at present—will be mentioned in the report. At present, the unicameral meets only every other year, and thus appropriations must be made on the biennial basis.

The record smashing $165,066,397 figure recommended for appropriations is an "inevitable" reflection of today's highest price level in history, the report says.

The committee also recommended that each state agency in making anticipated salary adjustments, give special consideration to employees in the lower brackets and to those who have not had any substantial increases in recent years.

The committee said that state expending agencies appeared to be operating satisfactorily. But it recommended that legislative studies of administration continue, with particular attention centered on the "organization, functions, and administrative procedures of the department of health."

Shaughnessy New Deputy For K. Of C.

St. Paul Man Named At Convention Here

The Nebraska council of the Knights of Columbus, following the conclusion of the 47th annual convention at the Lincoln hotel, Monday announced the following to hold state offices for the next year:

Cyril Shaughnessy, St. Paul, deputy.

George Ponton, Elgin, warden.

George McCarthy, O'Neill, secretary.

Leo Keating, Grand Island, chaplain.

John F. Kerrigan, Fremont, advocate.

Lawrence Weides, Lexington, treasurer.

Elected as delegates to the national convention in August were John A. Cunningham, Lincoln; William Radatz, Sidney; Ferd McKenzie, Hebron; Joe Broz, Schuyler, and Joseph Ritter, West Point.

In the principal afternoon address before the 120 delegates, James F. Green, Omaha attorney, called for a rediscovering of the fundamental idea of liberty expressed in the Declaration of Independence.

The United States, Green said, seems to be experimenting in solving its problems with Europeanism rather than Americanism. He pointed out that, like the trend in Europe, we gradually are heading toward a statism that existed under Mussolini, Hitler, Napoleon, and Stalin.

Meeting at this time of the year to express loyalty has particular significance, Green said, because May has been the month chosen by the "Godless" communists as one of national celebration.

In the passage of time, these same communists have infiltrated through United States representatives into labor unions which have been dominated by the communists, he said.

Also, he said, much of the work of the "red menace" is being carried on through the work of front organizations.

"Two of their favorites (the communists)," he said, "even were given academy awards."

Previous to Green's talk, The Right Rev. Msgr. John J. Paschang, past state chaplain, introduced past state deputies.

Lincoln's Most Rev. Louis B. Kucera conducted the solemn Pontifical Mass, which was followed by the Very Rev. Leo Keating delivering the sermon.

Father Keating emphasized that there can be no true unity in the family, nation, and the Knights of Columbus unless there is a belief that Christianity includes love of God as well as love of neighbor.

Mrs. Jack Cunningham, Lincoln, presided at a luncheon meeting of wives of the delegates at the Cornhusker hotel. They attended a fashion show at Miller & Paine's auditorium.

Chiang Calls For A Revolt In Red China

TAIPEH, Formosa—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek Tuesday urged workers in red China to revolt and promised "in the near future I shall come to your rescue and deliver you from your sufferings."

The Chinese nationalist leader's declaration was made in a May day message.

He charged the Chinese reds with "sent workers by thousands to Siberia to work as slave laborers for the Soviet imperialists" and "they have also sent laborers by the thousands to Korea, to serve as cannon fodder for the Soviet imperialists."

Chiang called Mao Tze-tung, red chairman, and Gen. Chu Teh, red military chief, "the common enemies of all China's workers."

More Rain Is Slated On Tuesday

Lincoln Measures .60 Inch Monday

The seeming never-ending spring rains will continue in eastern Nebraska Tuesday, the weather bureau reported, but showers will become only occasional as the storm moves to the east.

Monday's dose of precipitation left some areas of the state thoroughly doused, as high water flooded short sections of road in the Plattsmouth and Palmyra areas, according to the state patrol.

It was nothing serious, however, and the water receded quickly. The flooding was brought about by too much rain too quickly, as 1.49 inches hit Omaha and south of that city in less than six hours. Streams were not up.

Lincoln got .60 inches of rain up to midnight Tuesday morning, bringing the April precipitation figure to 4.41 inches, and the 1951 record thus far to 9.05.

Tuesday's rain would be mostly in the north the forecast said. High temperatures of 50 in the west and 65 in the east were predicted. The high here Monday was 63.

Twenty-four hour rainfall figures for selected precipitation points throughout the state, up to late Monday night, were:

Red Drive Comes To Dead Stop

Communist Hopes Capturing Seoul On May Day Shattered

TOYKO—(Tuesday)—(AP)—The communist spring offensive appeared to have come to a dead stop in Korea today.

By the late forenoon, an expected red May day push either had bogged down or had been contained by the allied defense.

Triple allied blows—naval, air, artillery—have saved Seoul at least for the moment.

Fighting died down on all fronts. There were indications that the reds were shifting their main force east of blackened Seoul, the Korean capital.

The reds had been expected to attack the city frontally in a May day assault. But during the night the 20,000 communists just north of Seoul slackened their pace.

Record Air Action They had been hard hit by massed allied guns; by warships shelling from 12 miles away; and by record-smashing flights of Far East air force planes.

FEAF planes broke all previous records with 1,270 sorties (flight missions) Monday and Fifth air force tactical fighters flew a record 960 combat flights. (Headquarters of the Pacific fleet at Pearl Harbor received word from a flagship off Korea's coast that the reds were expected to commit their air force at night, possibly on May Day.

The dispatch said allied warships were on the alert with anti-aircraft guns to meet any such blows.

Heavy Blows Expected The bulk of the red 600,000-man force in Korea was out of contact early Tuesday with U.N. troops, but massive blows still were expected at any time in several places.

Eight army's Tuesday morning communiqué reported a strange lull on the central front, where the big red drive was unleashed April 22. The communiqué spoke of "an elusive foe."

There were indications the Chinese were suffering from lack of supplies and food. Total red casualties were estimated by military authorities at more than 75,000 for the first nine days of the offensive.

had gone 140 days without a traffic death. Last year the city tied an old mark of only three deaths for the year and set a new record for death-free days—240.

The AP story also carried an estimate by the National Safety Council that the millionth American will probably die in a traffic accident some time this year. From 1900 to April 1, 1951, 971,260 persons were killed on American streets and highways.

The council figures that at the present accident rate the millionth man will die about the middle of December.

Lincoln is one of three cities of from 50,000 to 100,000 population with a perfect 1951 traffic fatality record, the National Safety Council reported Monday.

An Associated Press story from Chicago named Columbia, S. C. and Kalamazoo, Mich., as the other cities.

Capt. Paul Shively of Lincoln police said Monday that "Lincoln is a very lucky city to have such a record."

"Drivers and pedestrians have done their part to avoid auto deaths, and there is no reason why we can't keep up the record," he said.

Lt. Willis Manchester said the death-free months were especially unusual because the city has had 60 more injury accidents than last year at the same time.

Brehm Is Convicted

Congressman Found Guilty Of Receiving Illegal Contributions

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) was convicted Monday night of receiving illegal campaign contributions.

A federal court jury of 10 men and two women returned its verdict after deliberating about four hours and 20 minutes.

The jury found Brehm guilty on five counts based on five alleged contributions of $200 each from Mrs. Emma S. Craven, in 1948.

Mrs. Craven formerly worked in Brehm's office. A federal law forbids members of congress from accepting campaign contributions from federal employees.

The jury acquitted Brehm on one count. This charged receipt of a $140 contribution from Mrs. Clara Soliday, another former employee, early in 1948.

Brehm, who is serving his fifth term in the house from the 11th Ohio district, faces a maximum possible sentence of 15 years in prison and a fine of $25,000. However, maximum penalties are seldom imposed in a multi-count conviction.

Lincoln One Of Three Cities In Its Class Without Death In 1951 Traffic Accidents

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Coatney of 2803 Washington. His wife, Sue, resides at Columbus, Ga. A brother, Leon, lives at 385 South Thirty-seventh street, Lincoln.

Lt. Coatney and his platoon succeeded in taking the hill—dubbed "The Ice Cream Cone"—because of its sheer incline—from a Chinese communist force superior in numbers, after another cavalry company had failed to seize the enemy stronghold.

It was a brisk, cold day when word came down from a battalion headquarters in the First Cavalry Division that Hill 578 must be taken.

Outnumbered Two To One Lt. Coatney—a sergeant in World war II—led his men down a quiet little draw that approached the hill. Once the unit started inching its way up the steep slopes, the Chinese force atop the hill, outnumbering Coatney's unit two to one, flung hand grenades down the incline. One landed a few feet from

The action was taken on an unanimous vote by the United Labor Policy committee which represents 15 million workers of the CIO, AFL, the railroad brotherhoods and the machinists union.

Labor representatives were named for defense mobilization, economic stabilization, defense department and manpower posts and nominated for membership on the newly created 18-man wage stabilization board.

Quit Last February Organized labor withdrew its representatives from the federal agencies in late February in bitter protest against manpower and price policies and the government's 10 per cent wage increase ceiling.

In a prepared statement issued after a secret meeting, the unity committee declared that in the last two months "a significant change of attitude has taken place in Washington." It added:

"Considerable progress has been made in correcting unjust and unworkable procedure, but much remains to be done. We anticipate that substantive progress can be made through the co-operative efforts of labor, management and farm representatives within the mobilization agencies."

Harrison Named Committee spokesmen announced that these labor representatives will assume official posts under the new setup.

George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, as assistant to Defense Mobilizer Wilson. This is in response to a long-standing invitation by Wilson to name a representative to his office.

David J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the CIO Steel Workers' union, as special assistant to Economic Stabilizer Johnston.

Albert J. Hayes, president of the machinists, to serve as an assistant to Assistant Defense Secretary Anna M. Rosenberg, who is in charge of military manpower.

Wage Board Nominees In addition, a CIO leader will be named later to the national production authority, and an AFL man to the office of price stabilization.

These labor representatives are being nominated for the wage stabilization board.

Harry Bates, president of AFL bricklayers union; Elmer Walker, vice president of the machinists, and Emil Rieve, president of the CIO textile workers, who resigned as members of the old nine man wage board; and William C. Birnbright, president of the AFL barbers union; Joseph Beirne, president of the CIO Communication Workers union, and John Livingston, vice president of the CIO United Auto Workers.

Who Speaks For Lincoln?

Ordinarily we welcome differences between men of experience and ability. Out of conflict, the product of an honest difference of opinion, comes the sustaining fruit of democracy.

But it can be overdone, and for the last five years, it has been badly overdone in connection with Lincoln's city government. A bumper crop of cross-purposes within Lincoln's city council has produced the impression that policies which should not be too difficult to agree upon actually inspire so much dissension at the city hall that it has not been unusual to discover the council reversing itself time and again, and flatly reversing its position upon policy. This is bad because the broad outline of city government as set forth in approved policy should have the strength of stability, and a reasonable degree of permanence. There can be no sound plan without this element.

This is in reality the one issue, the only issue involved in Tuesday's municipal election. It can be taken for granted that every candidate for a place on the council is honest, sincere, eager to be of public service. Recently the city hall has reverberated to the echoes of a heated squabble over the installation of parking meters. That is primarily an administrative responsibility, not an issue involving policy, because we have, and have had for some time, the parking meter system. The choice falls upon the shoulders of Director Ray Osborn, who came up with a recommendation presumably after adequate investigation and study. Director Osborn's recommendation is attacked sharply and seriously by Councilman Rees Wilkinson. When Mr. Wilkinson voiced his original objections, he had the support of retiring Councilmen Arthur J. Weaver and Tom Pansing. But when the chips were down and the question was simply to accept or reject Director Osborn's recommendation of meters, Councilman Wilkinson cast a lone vote of opposition.

The incident is not too important in itself—obviously Mr. Wilkinson's colleagues were convinced there was nothing to Mr. Wilkinson's charges or they would not have voted as they did—but the explosion does represent one of the weaknesses that has developed in connection with the seven-man council plan, at a sacrifice of public confidence. Either Mr. Wilkinson was right or he was wrong. If he were right, then the parking meter contract should have been rejected. If he were wrong, then Mr. Wilkinson should eat his own words in bowing to the judgment of his colleagues on the council. It simply does not give city government the standing it should have when one or more of the seven members of the council persist in charges that the city is entering upon a bad bargain.

Who speaks for Lincoln? Is the community's voice strong, united? Or is the community's voice muffled and confused by intermittent bickering, quarreling and squabbling? We have had five stormy years of it, bickering and back-biting, five years of a divided council, dealing largely with matters upon which it would seem that reasonable men could agree without too great an effort.

We find it difficult to believe that Councilman Wilkinson is more concerned with protecting the interests of the people of Lincoln than Mayor Anderson, Councilman John Comstock, or Councilwoman Fern Hubbard Orme. Frequently there have been occasions when it has seemed the majority actually had a clearer view than the minority. Mr. Wilkinson has conducted a very aggressive campaign, the kind that usually produces votes. Regardless of what happens in his case, there is the assurance that the council will be infused with new blood, and the more, the better.

Overriding The Committee

Senator Otto Liebers has announced that he will attempt to override the action of the Public Works committee of the Nebraska unicameral, headed by Chairman Otto Prohs, in indefinitely postponing the voluminous 54-page, so-called "model" Salt-Wahoo watershed bill, setting up an agency of government with exceedingly broad powers. In taking its action the committee, Chairman Prohs indicated, was recommending unanimously that the legislation be referred to the legislative council for study.

Obviously a majority of the Public Works committee reached a sound conclusion. The subject itself is of sufficient importance to justify painstaking study—the bill handed to the committee contains such far-reaching powers, to be exercised by district board organized by scanty minority representation of voters within a watershed, as to suggest most detailed study. In the time that remains, if the legislature is to wind up its labors on schedule, there is not the opportunity to examine this requested grant of powers.

Legislative procedure makes provision for any member to ask action of a committee be overruled. Senator Liebers has that right. But when the chief promoter of this legislation, (not Senator Liebers), charges that Chairman Prohs and his committee colleagues have given no consideration to the bill, he merely is adopting tactics that he has seen fit to employ constantly since the start of the session. Chairman Prohs and his colleagues have been patient to an exceptional degree, conscientious, and fair.

Here is an interesting case history. First, the original bill was presented to the committee. Later, a 54-page substitute was handed it. Then there was much talk of amendments to eliminate admitted "bugs"—amendments which, incidentally, never put in an appearance. We shall have something to say on this matter later. This is not the time to discuss it.

But the bill's chief promoter has revealed a new amazing technique in battling for his heart's desire. First, he listed the nine members of the Public Works committee, admonishing the people of the state to keep their eyes on these men. Then, late last week, boiling over, he took out after Chairman Prohs and Senator Prohs' colleagues, who did indefinitely postpone a bill richly deserving of death—men who saw their duty and did it, and then who, in thoughtful spirit, recommended that the whole field covered in a cockeyed proposal be given study by the legislative council.

Obviously, in the view of the chief promoter of this model watershed legislation, legislators are not supposed to have any ideas of their own when he speaks. His word is, or should be, final. Jeepers!

While Holding The Line

Senator Fulbright, of Arkansas, performed a distinguished public service by digging boldly and competently into the administration of the affairs of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Late last week, he came up with another contribution, this time in connection with the Great Debate, which should attract widespread public attention. Because Senator Bob Taft had aimed a criticism, a disturbing charge against the joint chiefs of staff, Senator Fulbright felt called upon to answer Mr. Taft, which he did. He warned the American people that the current debate over Far Eastern policy should not go to the length of damaging the instruments through which any policy must be carried out. It would have been wrong and dangerous to weaken confidence in General MacArthur by attacking his integrity when he was holding the front in Korea—and it is equally wrong and dangerous to weaken public confidence in the joint chiefs of staff by a charge that they are under the thumb of the administration while holding the front in many world areas.

Senator Fulbright has never hesitated to differ, and differ sharply, with President Truman. It has been his independence in matters upon which he feels deeply that gives unusual strength to his objection to Senator Taft's charge that the joint chiefs "are absolutely under the control of the administration" and make their political recommendations to suit political demands. Taft had been particularly critical of General Omar Bradley as a result of the speech that General Bradley gave in Chicago, revealing a basic difference of opinion between General Bradley and General MacArthur.

General MacArthur had gone to the length of writing a letter to Minority Leader Joe Martin, sharply critical not only of his superior, his superior's policy, but on the basis of known facts, also critical of the chiefs of staff, at least General Bradley. Bradley presented an opposite view. So the question is, was it right for MacArthur and wrong for Bradley to present what must be accepted as their honest views?

There was one fundamental difference. General Bradley's statement was cleared by the authorities designated by the president—General MacArthur's was not. Are we to accept Senator Taft's conclusion that because General Bradley's views were in harmony with the policy stated by the president and the state department, he should not have voiced them, although they represent his honest judgment? Of course the honest opinion of the military chiefs should be weighed fully in the shaping of policy. There is ample evidence that they have been. There is abundant reason to believe that the joint chiefs of staff are sincere, courageous men—their decisions represent their conscientious military judgment, and not the political pressures.

Senator Fulbright was right when he suggested the debate was entering the fields of dangerous doctrine. Any debate as to policy should be limited to policy.

This Is All We Need

As if things weren't muddled enough on the international front, a suggestion was made this week that President Truman and Stalin should meet for peace talks—in the nude. The idea was advanced by Shivan Chida Nand Gir, leader of 50,000 members of the Naga sect in New Delhi, India.

He said that a nude conference of this type generates an atmosphere that "I have nothing to hide from you." That isn't the half of it!

—Washington Merry-Go-Round— RIDGWAY PROMISED TRUMAN HE COULD HOLD AGAINST REDS

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Before President Truman made his tough decision to fire General MacArthur, he asked General Matt Ridgway for a confidential opinion as to whether U.N. forces could hold against the expected big communist offensive.

Truman took this precaution, first because he had been known for some time that the offensive was coming, second because he also knew what a catastrophic torrent of criticism would be heaped on his head if, after relieving MacArthur, U.N. forces suffered a staggering defeat.

Gen. Ridgway cabled back that his forces could hold. He went further and stated that he could hold against any enemy attack for sixty days—even without reinforcements. The Pentagon, reporting this to the White House, said they had complete confidence in Ridgway, so Truman shot the works with MacArthur.

There are several important reasons for this confidence, all going to the tremendously improved fighting quality and command of American troops.

Last December a Chinese army only half as big as that facing us today, was thrown against the U.N. It was not one million men, as MacArthur announced. Yet that relatively small Chinese force threw the Eighth army for a headlong retreat of more than 120 miles. Furthermore, the Chinese army of last December was poorly equipped with small arms and almost no heavy artillery.

Today, twice as many Chinese are attacking, equipped with twice the firepower of last December. Meanwhile, U.N. forces are only slightly larger than those of last December.

Chief change between now and then is in American fighting spirit and strategy, for which Lt. Gen. Matt Ridgway deserves most of the credit. Here is what he has done:

1—Previously, the mechanized American forces were flanked by the Chinese, who swarmed through the backwoods and rice paddies, usually keeping off the main highways. Ridgway has now moved his infantry off the roads, and trained them to fight on the communists' own ground. Instead of relying on trucks and jeeps, Ridgway has hired South Korean bearers to haul supplies to G.I.s who are dug in off the highways. Ridgway also has used guerrilla-trained American rangers to harass the enemy behind their lines.

2—Ridgway has moved cautiously, and patrolled every step of the way, instead of racing ahead pell-mell, as Lt. Gen. Edward Almond and the late Gen. Walton Walker did last November to see whose troops could reach the Yalu river first. Ridgway keeps tight liaison between his front-line commands, in contrast with the Eighth army and Tenth corps

Washington Calling

UNSTABLE AMERICAN ECONOMY WILL BE FURTHER DISLOCATED

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The phrase that President Truman applied to the present pause in the upward swing of the economy was "breathing spell." But it might be more realistic to call it a false dawn, since apparently a great many Americans want to believe that the current lull is a permanent condition.

Marquis Childs

In a breathing spell you take advantage of the pause to catch your breath so you can go on with the struggle. There are no signs that the present interval will be used honestly and realistically to strengthen the bulwarks against further inflation.

It is still true, as it has been for the past six months, that no single section of the economy has been subjected to controls. They exist in theory, but the very fact of a pretense—an elaborate machinery of controls—is almost more dangerous than nothing at all.

As for labor, the problem of the escalator clauses in the contracts of many big unions is not met in the president's message to congress. Those who struggled to enforce price controls during World War II are convinced that some means must be found to overcome price increases.

As for the farmer, the complex proposal to fix the parity price at the beginning of the marketing season and then to base controls on a year of established parity prices contains little realism. It is undermined, too, by various gimmicks providing for increases under certain circumstances. The new slow-motion effort to impose ceilings on beef prices is also of doubtful efficacy.

The president's message hints that government subsidies may be necessary at a later date in order to bring farm prices under control. To face the issue of subsidies now, in order to roll back food prices to earlier levels, is the only realistic approach, to bringing down the cost of living. Anything else is bound to feed the sham and the illusion.

As for business, the president pointed out that profits are now running at an all-time record rate of $45 billion a year, about $20 billion higher than in 1949. A study made by the federal trade

A Drew Pearson Special The Kefauver Committee Reports

SPECIAL TO THE STAR

The lid isn't supposed to be blown off until next week, but the long-awaited Kefauver crime report has been virtually finished and is packed with dramatic passages on New York City's ex-mayor William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico.

This column has obtained a confidential draft of the report which turns the underworld inside out, and throws a glaring light on big time hoodlums and corrupt politicians from coast to coast.

Probably the most explosive charge is that Ambassador O'Dwyer, while district attorney throughout the country. The report placed the responsibility for ridding the country of organized crime squarely in the hands of the public. The committee describes its "most shocking revelations" as the "extent of political corruption and connivance in facilitating and promoting organized crime." The evidence is presented in four different forms:

- 1—Direct bribes or protection payments are made to law enforcement officials.
- 2—Political influence is used to protect criminal activities.
- 3—Law enforcement officials are found in possession of unusual and unexplained wealth.
- 4—Law enforcement officials participate in the business of organized crime.

The Kefauver report lays down the following general conclusions:

"1—The top gangsters in the country, despite known arrest records and well-documented criminal reputations, remain immune to prosecution and punishment. This quasi immunity can be ascribed to what is popularly known as the 'fix'."

"2—Gambling supports bigtime racketeers and gangsterism. It provides the financial resources whereby criminals are converted into bigtime racketeers, political bosses, and pseudo businessmen and philanthropists. Thus, the two-dollar horse bettor and the five-cent numbers player are not only suckers because they are gambling against hopeless odds, but they also provide the money which enables underworld characters to undermine our institutions."

"3—The Western Union telegraph company in many parts of the country has not been fully cooperative with law enforcement officials. By permitting its facilities to be used by bookmakers, Western Union has given aid and comfort to those engaged in the violation of gambling laws. In some cases, Western Union officials and employees actually participate in bookmaking conspiracies by accepting bets and transmitting them to book makers."

"4—Bigtime bookmaking operations cannot be carried on without the rapid transmission of racing information and gambling information. This information is presently being provided by a monopoly operated by the Continental Press Service."

"5—There are a number of lawyers in different parts of the country whose relation to organized criminal gangs and individual mobsters passes the line of ethical representation."

"6—Some tax accountants and tax lawyers have aided mobsters and racketeers in defrauding the government by preparing and defending income tax returns which they knew to be inadequate."

"7—The committee has found considerable evidence of infiltration by organized criminals into legitimate business, particularly in connection with the sale and distribution of liquor, real estate operations, night clubs, hotels, automobile agencies, restaurants, taverns, cigarette vending companies, juke boxes, laundries, manufacture of clothing, and the transmission of racing and sporting news. . . . "8—In some instances, legitimate businessmen have aided the interests of the underworld, awarding lucrative contracts to gangsters and mobsters in return for help in handling employees, defeating attempts at organizing and in breaking strikes."

Here are the recommendations which the committee urges:

- 1—Transmission of gambling information across state lines should be prohibited.
- 2—Transmission of bets or wagers across state lines by facilities of interstate communication, or the U.S. mails, should be prohibited.

3—Penalties against the illegal sale, distribution and smuggling of narcotic drugs, should be considerably increased.

4—Immigration laws should be amended so that aliens may be deported without regard to how they entered this country, where they have been convicted of a crime after entering this country, and where it is determined after an administrative hearing that they have been engaged in illegal enterprises within the previous five years.

5—Prohibition against transportation of slot machines in interstate commerce should be amended to include other gambling devices which are susceptible of gangster or racketeer control, such as punchboards, roulette wheels, etc.

6—Internal revenue laws and regulations should be amended so as to require any person who has been engaged in an illegitimate business netting in excess of $2,500 a year for any of five years previously, to file a net worth statement of all his assets.

7—Gambling casinos should be required to file daily records of money won and lost, with the bureau of internal revenue.

8—The bureau of internal revenue should enforce the regulations which require taxpayers to keep adequate books and records of income and expenses against the gangsters and racketeers who are continually flouting it.

WILLIAM O'DWYER

and mayor, failed to take "any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, waterfront, murder or bookmaking rackets"; that he "impeded many promising investigations of such rackets"; and that these failures "contributed to the growth of organized crime, racketeering and gangsterism in New York City."

The report also ties O'Dwyer to underworld boss Frank Costello, declaring: "Despite Mr. O'Dwyer's frequent public castigation of Tammany hall and his acknowledgment that Frank Costello was a sinister influence therein, he has been on terms of intimate friendship with persons who were close friends of Costello. Many of his intimate friends were also close friends of racketeer Joe Adonis. He has appointed friends of both Costello and Adonis to high public office."

The committee put the finger on two major crime syndicates which dominate the underworld. They are the Frank Costello-Joe Adonis-Meyer Lansky syndicate based in New York; and the Tony Accardo-Jack Guzik-Charlie Fischetti syndicate with headquarters in Chicago. The report named the Mafia, mysterious underworld society, as the "binder which ties together the two major syndicates as well as numerous other criminal gangs throughout the country. The power of the Mafia is based on a ruthless enforcement of its edicts and its own laws of vengeance, to which have been creditably attributed, literally hundreds of murders and things would roll along harmoniously. If I were president and commander-in-chief, I'd place an allied army in British Samoa; also an army on the island of Ceylon and one on Madagascar, with reserves in Transvaal South Africa.

Why antagonize our friends? We should not fight a war in China proper. Nearly 80 per cent of the Chinese are our friends. General MacArthur's Chinese policy was and still is wrong. General Eisenhower's European policy is also very wrong. It causes us to fight our friends, Germans then would also be fighting brothers—Poles and Czechs—our friends. The all-out war should be fought on the plains of Arabia. Russia will grab Iran oil and we should be in shape to move in on Arabia and meet them there on the Persian plains.

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: For the first time, a great many of us are very much concerned about the school board election. I think the interest in this campaign will be to the benefit of our school children.

I have heard several people ask the following questions:

- (1) Do we want persons to serve as long as 12 years on the school board?
- (2) Is it right for half of the school board members to live within a few blocks of one another?
- (3) Is it democratic for a third of the board members to be related to each other?
- (4) How can we know what is happening when this board holds so many secret meetings?

I think that the people of Lincoln believe it is a good thing to elect competent new persons with fresh ideas and different points of view to our school board. Certainly we do not want continued domination of our school by a self-perpetuating clique.

Therefore I challenge Mr. John Slothower, Jr., to prove his point in constantly befuddling the people with such nonsense. # 1-Cent Gas Tax Increase Advanced

Carmody Withdraws As Co-Introducer; Hern's Name Added

BY ARCH DONOVAN
STAR STAFF WRITER

An increase of one cent in gas tax with 60 per cent going to the state and 40 to counties as proposed by Sen. Otto Prohs in L.B. 122 was advanced on general bill Monday with a minimum of debate. The vote was 19 to 16.

Before action was taken, Sen. Arthur Carmody, a co-introducer, asked and was given permission to have his name removed from the bill. Sen. William Hern of Chadron by unanimous consent was given permission to have his name added as an introducer.

Commenting on the withdrawal of Sen. Carmody from sponsorship of the bill, Sen. Prohs told the legislature that it was personal and "not because it's not a good bill and not because we do not need more funds for highways."

Misunderstanding
The Gering senator said that the petroleum interests were fighting gas tax increases all over the United States and in some instances had been successful like in Nebraska. However, he said he was convinced that the Nebraska action was due to misunderstanding.

He pointed out that the state is receiving no additional revenue for highways from amounts set in 1940. Gasoline prices increased by the state have paid in that time from 11.3 cents to 18 cents.

"And they talk about efficiency," he asserted. "They have had to increase prices seven cents a gallon, but the state is expected to build and maintain

Loomis Opposes Ban On Dogs Running At Large

The city council Monday was advised by Leslie C. Loomis, superintendent of the Humane Society, against the passage of an ordinance forbidding dogs to run at large in the city.

The council, however, did order an ordinance prepared to the effect that a $1 pound fee will be charged for licensed as well as unlicensed dogs picked up by the society for causing a disturbance. Also ordered prepared was an ordinance making it illegal for any dog to run at large in public places such as schools and parks.

Loomis told the council that complaints against dogs running loose in the city was an annual spring event and if the animals were kept tied up or fenced in there would be much barking and howling and more biting dogs.

It was suggested by Loomis that dog owners make a more concentrated effort to train their dogs to remain at home unless accompanying their owners some place.

He stated that a switch is a good teacher and added that "a little discipline is humane when used correctly."

Damage to Bridges
Sen. Metzger told of the flood damage to bridges in his county and said if more money was not made available to counties they would be unable to repair them.

Sen. John Adams of Omaha made a motion to indefinitely postpone the measure but lost by a vote of 16 ayes and 19 nays, the same vote as recorded on the motion to advance.

Sentence Deferred In Theft of Wallet

Two men pleaded guilty in District court Monday to charges that arose from the theft Sunday morning of a wallet containing $80 that belonged to Martin F. Monson of 1757 Prospect.

Donald E. Conley, 25, of Creston, Ia., was charged with grand larceny and his roommate, Lewis J. Day, 22, also of Creston, was being an accessory after the fact. Conley told police he took the wallet from a car seat after the three men had been for a ride in Monson's car. He said Day helped him hide the $80. Police found it between the glass and the back of a mirror in the pair's downtown hotel room.

District Judge Harry Ankeny deferred sentence pending investigation by the county probation officer.

Board Fails To Name New Peru Head

The state normal board at its meeting Saturday made no selection of a permanent president for Peru Teachers college from the 13 applicants and it is expected that more applications will be received before a decision is made. Neal Gomon has been acting president since the resignation of Wayne O. Reed to accept a position in the federal department of education.

The board refused to transfer a corner of the campus at Kearney Teachers college to the state highway department so as to permit reconstruction of highway 30 in a sweeping curve. The board decided that transfer of state land was a function of the legislature.

Mrs. Havens Smith of Chap-pell, newly appointed member of the board to succeed Mrs. Ralph Hill of Hebron attended her first regular session of the board.

Jayhawk All-Americans Spearhead Alum Attack

(Special to The Star)

LAWRENCE, Kan.—The only two football All-Americans in Kansas history, Ray Evans and Otto Schnellbacher, will head an alumni squad of 35 here May 5 when J. V. Sikes' varsity tackles the Old Grads in Memorial stadium.

Both have been signed by Alumni coaches, Wayne Replogle and Dan Edwards, for the afternoon contest which will furnish a climax to spring drills as well as playing the feature of a full sports weekend.

Evans, now a Kansas City banker, garnished a brilliant career by earning all-American plaudits in 1947 at left halfback. He was named all-league in 1942, and was named all-league in 1942.

1946, and 1947 as well as leading the Jayhawks to their most successful era of modern times. He topped the nation's passers in '42, on a club which won only one conference game and ranked sixth among the country's total offense individuals.

'48 CO-CAPTAIN

Schnellbacher, who divides his time between part-time duties with the Jayhawk coaching staff and a Topeka insurance firm, co-captained the 1948 Orange bowl club which crashed undefeated through a 10-game regular schedule and lost only 14-20 to Georgia Tech in Miami. He was named all-American end in '47. He also was an all-loop selection in 1946 and '47, pacing conference pass receivers both seasons.

Both cut successful swaths with the pros. Evans played only one season with the Pittsburgh Steelers, 1948. Schnellbacher now has played three, the first two with the New York Yankees, last year with the Giants. During that period he earned a reputation as one of the professional top defensive backs, a role he is slated to fill here for the Alumni.

Four other pros or ex-pros will back the Alumni. These include Don "Red" Ettinger, the rampant tackle-guard of the New York Giants; Forrest Griffith, a halfback with the same club; Dick Tomlinson, current Steeler guard, and Don Pierce, erstwhile Brooklyn and Chicago Card center.

HONORED AS ROOKIE

Ettinger earned all-NFL honors as a rookie in 1948. He was all-league here as a tackle in 1947. Griffith, all-conference fullback in 1947 and 1948, was the sensation of the Giants young backfield last autumn until sheathed with a head injury. Tomlinson earned his spurs as a rookie with Pittsburgh's tough single-wing line last year. He was all-league in 1948 and 1949.

In addition to Schnellbacher the Alumni will field 10 other coaches. This roster includes Don Fambrough, an All-West guard in 1946, now an assistant on Sikes' staff; Hoyt Baker, Pacia high school; Carl Ellis, Ellis high; Red Morrow, who tutored Peabody last autumn; Howard Fletcher, Medicine Lodge; Floyd Temple, Baker's assistant at Pacia; Bob Drumm, who served as Baker U's line coach last fall; Dick Rosenfield.

TOM HAMILTON—Back in the Lincoln Athletic camp.

Hamilton Back

Lincoln fans and Athletic Skipper Frank Skaff were cheered by the arrival of "Big Tom" Hamilton to the A's fold.

Hamilton, heavy hitting ex-Texas U. flash and last year's first sacker for the A's, has been hampered by a lame shoulder that forced him to spend the early part of the season at his home in Texas. He may still not see action for a week or two until his recovery is complete.

Derby Trial To Fourteen

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (INS) — Fourteen horses were entered Monday in today's $10,000 derby trial at Churchill Downs.

Pur Sang drew top weight of 118 pounds for the mile event, regarded as a final test for the 77th running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

Repetoire, winner of the Wood Memorial, passed up the Trial. So did Mameluke, winner of one-half of last week's Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland which was split in two races because of a heavy entry list.

Ruhe, winner of the other half of the Blue Grass, also stayed out of the Trial.

Other entries and weights follow:

Abbe Sting, 112; Gay Hunter, 108; The Gink, 110; Refun, 110; Barnwood, 110; Battie Morn, 115; Spur On, 110; King's Hope, 115; Panfare, 110; Fighting Back, 110; Golden Birch, 110; Brevite, 110; and King Clover, 110.

Mameluke, expected to be coupled with Countpoint in the Derby, turned in a stalling workout over the two-mile route—a mile and a quarter. He traveled it in 2:04 3/5.

GAME OFF

Rain forced postponement Monday of the Big League conference baseball game between Iowa State and Nebraska. The teams are scheduled to play Tuesday also and coaches were considering possibility of a double header if the grounds were in shape. But it was raining hard in Lincoln and possibility of a cancellation due to wet grounds appeared good.

Featherweight Ace Scores 27th Kayo

CHICAGO — (AP) — Russell Tague of Eldridge, Ia., sensational 23-year-old featherweight, scored his 27th knockout in 28 consecutive wins Monday night by stopping Veteran Al Roberts of Chicago in the fourth round of a scheduled eight at Rainbo Arena.

Tague, weighing 127 to Roberts' 124, displayed a terrific straight right that shook Roberts in the second and dropped him twice for the eighth count in the third. Tague had his foe halfway through the ropes with sliding rights when Referee Norm McGarrity stopped the bout at 2:10 of the fourth.

Recent Player Swaps Spice East-West Series Openers

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK — (AP) — How against Bill Wight, the ex-White Sox pitcher who has yet to win for Boston?

Can Jimmy Dykes, the light a firecracker under Gus Zernial? Will Orestes Mino count on their new-found power make the White Sox a pennant to break a 10-game losing streak at Detroit? Carl Scheib is due to These natural questions about pitch against Dizzy Trout, the big seven-man swap in the American league pop up on an off day. The first answers will start coming in Tuesday when the first east vs. west series open in both majors.

Chicago's Sox don't have to wait long for a test. They bump into the Champion New York Yankees right off the bat at Comiskey park. Manager Paul Richards probably will have Mino, the rookie from Cleveland, at third base.

Richards, new White Sox boss, has retained one feature of the old regime—the habit of pitching Bob Cain against New York. Cain beat the Yanks four times last year.

HOPES HIGH

Cleveland's pennant hopes are high now that Hank Greenberg has landed that first class lefty starter in Brissie. But the Boston Red Sox won't see Brissie Tuesday night. It will be Bobby Fel-

Illegal Bait Use Brings Fines For Three Anglers

For the second straight week the game commission reported making arrests for illegal use of baits in Fremont State Lake No. 4. This particular lake at Fremont is restricted to use of artificial baits.

Those arrested and prosecuted were Jack Van Patten and A. F. White, both of Lincoln, and Ralph Bounds of Omaha. Each was fined $10 and costs.

Angus Stergios of Omaha was fined $5 and costs and assessed $25 in liquidated damages for shooting and poisoning a hen pheasant out of season. For shooting a male pheasant during the closed season, Robert Covey of Orleans was fined $10 and costs. Covey was charged $10 in liquidated damages.

Cecil Conyers of Lexington was fined $5 and costs for killing a game animal during the closed season. Conyer's gun was confiscated.

Four Wisner hunters, Donald D. Kindschuh, Keith H. Kindschuh, LaVern W. Houghton and Donald L. Houghton were each fined $1 and costs for hunting on private lands without permission.

For illegal possession of an undersized catfish, Bruce Dyke of Omaha was fined $10 and costs.

Murphy Scores KO Over Hudson

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Irish Bob Murphy, liberal with his powerful left uppercut, punished Cecil Hudson of Milwaukee for four rounds Monday night then knocked him out in the fifth.

The end for the game local fighter came at one minute 30 seconds of the fifth of a scheduled ten rounds via one of Murphy's vicious uppercuts. The San Diego, Calif., slugger, weighing 175 1/2, had floored Hudson, 171 for two, in the counts in the preceding round.

The unofficial crowd and gate count was 9,000 persons and $30,-000 receipts.

Wilber Wieners Down Pickrell Townies, 3-1

(Special to The Star.)

CRETE, Neb. — Behind the seven hit pitching of freshman Jim Stanley and four double plays, the Doane college "Wilber Wieners" downed the Pickrell Town Team 3 to 1 Sunday afternoon.

Omahan Bill Best and Bob Elm of Genoa scored first inning runs to give the Wieners the lead which they held for the remainder of the game.

The win was the first in two starts for the Doane nine.

Nebraska Dogs Edged In Greyhound Meeting

ABILENE, Kas., — (AP) — Scotty Boom, brindle greyhound owned by Aubrey Weatherford of Bartlett, Tex., came through as a dark horse to win the Waterloo cup and $1,000 first prize in the feature stake on the closing day of the national coursing meet.

Maltha Hays, owned by L.R. Pittser of Oswego, Kas., came from behind to win the Waterloo purse from Midnight Light, owned by Leland Fisher of Superior, Neb., and Pacific Blues, owned by C.V. Floca of Temple, Tex., beat another Fisher entry, Safeway, in the finals.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Bali Pictures Limited

SINGAPORE—(AP)—American tourists cruising about the world aboard the Norwegian yacht "Stella Polaris" said they were disappointed with the fabulous island of Bali—they couldn't take the pictures they wanted. They reported a new Bali government regulation forbids any photographing of bare-breasted women because "it is humiliating to the women to be seen without any covering by the people of other countries."

But, said a passenger, W. W. White, of Manson, N. C.: "The Balinese women are among the most shapely and best-looking in the world. I reckon the new regulation is a shame."

He added, however, "we managed to get some pictures when taking photographs of street scenes."

Protest Old Billboards

PRAGUE—(AP)—Outdoor advertising signs left over from the capitalist era should be removed from Wenceslas square here, the trade union newspaper "Prace" says.

"They all have one thing in common," it said. "They remind us of the times of big competition, which brought millions to the few and hunger and misery to the many."

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the People of Lincoln:

I have known Ross Wilkinson for more than 35 years. He is a man of clean habits, high ideals and fine character.

As a member of the City Council he has been honest, conscientious, intelligent and hardworking. He attended every meeting of the City Council and was a business judgment in deciding the problems presented to the Council. In my opinion he is one of the best councilmen Lincoln has ever had. He is needed on the City Council and I am going to vote for his re-election.

I came to Lincoln when 4 years old, was employed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue for a period of 30 years. I recently retired from Federal service after being when I was Division Chief of the Lincoln Division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. In this position I learned to judge men and can freely recommend Ross Wilkinson to the people of this city as a man who will properly represent the interests of our citizens. I consider him to be the "spark plug" of the City Council.

Sincerely,
Max L. Main
